

Washington
Shore

UBO is a 3-element yagi antenna that points into the ice and trash sluiceway channel and is connected to a single input DSP receiver. Fish that are in the tailrace may be recorded off the back of the antenna at a low power. The antenna is actually located at the outfall inside the channel.

